Amarr Brand Builder-Grade Lincoln Series Doors

R-value

0.0-6.64

When it comes to 1-layer (steel) and 2-layer (steel + insulation) raised panel garage doors, we think Amarr is a fine choice. A nice panel design, decent hardware and a reliable, mainstream manufacturer make these doors a great choice for a detached garage, a house flip, or to keep costs extra low. 1- and 2-layer doors are not as tough or quiet as 3-layer doors, but they should do the job, even over the long term.

Clipay 3-Layer Gallery Collection Garage Doors

3-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel) Carriage House Doors

R-value

6.5-18.4

These 3-layer carriage-house-style doors might look like they open out, but they are upward-acting, like standard doors. The designs are stamped into the steel, keeping them reasonably priced. Gallery Collection doors come with larger windows than doors in the same range from CHI and Amarr, so they're our #1 choice for stamped steel carriage house doors in standard colors. When you buy them with upgraded hardware (not big-box-store hardware!) these are top quality, no-maintenance, very durable, highly attractive doors.

Amarr Brand Hillcrest Value Stamped Steel Carriage Doors

1-, 2- and 3-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel) Carriage Doors

R-value

0.0-9.05

These 3-layer carriage-house-style doors might look like they open out, but they are upward-acting, like standard doors. The designs are stamped into the steel, keeping them reasonably priced. The windows in this line are smaller than similar models from Clopay and CHI, which negatively impacts the overall look in our opinion, but Amarr does have some really great panel designs that no one else has. Buy them from us with upgraded hardware - not big-box-store hardware!

Amarr Brand Classica Stamped Steel Carriage Doors

1-, 2- and 3-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel) Carriage Doors

R-value

0.0-13.35

Amarr's line of Classica brand doors come in a variety of panel designs that other brands just don't do. From raised or recessed panels to "double XX" and "A" designs, these doors look incredibly nice, even if they are of average quality. These doors also come in 3 sections for most common heights, allowing them to do much larger windows. Our recommendation: if you love the design, a small sacrifice in quality is probably worth it.

Clipay 3-Layer Gallery Collection w/ Ultragrain Finish

3-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel) Carriage House Doors

R-value

6.5-18.4

The beauty of stained wood without the upkeep. Clipay's Ultra-Grain® paint finish delivers the best of both worlds: the realistic look of natural wood with the low maintenance and energy efficiency of insulated steel. Unlike real wood, it's UV-resistant and impervious to moisture and won't fade, rot, split, shrink or crack, saving you and the environment material, energy and resources necessary to maintain or replace door components.

CHI Carriage House Doors w/ Accents Woodtones

3-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel) Stamped Carriage House

R-value

9.65-16.55

These 3-layer carriage-house-style doors might look like they open out, but they are upward-acting, like standard doors. The designs are stamped into the steel, keeping them reasonably priced. Accents woodtones are printed directly onto the door for a striking, beautiful and realistic wood look. One "board" with a lighter tone might be sitting right next to another one with a darker tint, not unlike what you might find in a contemporary piece of furniture. The faux wood grains line up with the embossing on the panels for a one-of-a-kind, stylish look that no other brand can match.

6.5-18.4

For a beautiful, higher-end, more realistic-looking carriage house garage door, Clipay Coachman Collection garage doors are next-level. These doors start with a 3-layer (steel + insulation + steel) base door, then composite overlays are added to create numerous more 3-dimensional designs, including crossbucks, full vertical panels and more. They are upward-acting like any standard garage door.

CHI Brand Overlay Carriage House Doors

4-Layer (Steel + Insulation + Steel + Overlay) Carriage Doors

R-value

10.29-17.54

Nicer in some ways than the Clopay Coachman doors (which we always considered to be the gold standard of overlay doors), and at a better price. The overlays on these doors are not hollow, which we think is awesome. The fact that the overlays are thicker and have a more plain edge give these doors a somewhat more "rustic" look than the Coachman's more refined detailing.
